

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

Something About the Men Who Compose the Ticket.

The republican party of Coconino county have placed in the field a good ticket and one which all true republicans can give their unqualified support. The men on the ticket are among the best citizens of the county and invites the respect of every voter no matter what his politics may be.

The choice of the republicans for a candidate for the territorial council was

who faithfully and ably served the people of this county in the eighteenth legislature. He is a man of the people and at all times works for their interest. He is an old resident of the county and has done much to develop its resources. He is engaged in the lumber business at present, which calling he has followed since his boyhood days. There is no doubt of his election, and Coconino county will have an earnest worker at the next legislature in Councilman E. F. Greenlaw.

R. H. CAMERON

was the choice of the republican convention for the important office of sheriff. He has served in this capacity, and has proven a faithful and energetic official. He is well known to every one in Coconino county and he needs no introduction to the readers of THE SUN. He will be re-elected to the office of sheriff by the usual majority.

EDWARD M. DOE,

the republican nominee for district attorney is one of the ablest lawyers of the territory and is fully qualified for the onerous duties of this office. Mr. Doe has been engaged in the practice of law in this county for the past twelve years and is well and favorably known to every voter in the county. He knows the duties of the office and he can be depended upon to conduct the office with sound judgment and discretion. The district attorney's office needs just such a man as Mr. Doe and when the votes are counted on the 8th of November the count will show him to be the choice of the people by a handsome majority.

HARRY FULTON

was the unanimous choice of the republicans for the office of treasurer and a better selection for that office could not of have been made. He is eminently qualified for the duties of the office. He has always been identified with the interests of the county and at one time was one of the large cattle raisers of the territory. During the depression of 1896, like many others in the same business, he was compelled to retire from the business. No man can honestly say aught against the integrity of Mr. Fulton and he has the confidence of the people and their ballots will be cast for him on election day.

HENRY J. SELLERS

is an old resident of the county and possesses the necessary qualifications for recorder, to which office he was unanimously nominated by the republicans. When the war broke out Mr. Sellers was engaged in the cattle business, but being more of a patriot than a partisan he left his business and joined the Rough Riders. He served with distinction in the battles around Santiago. Mr. Sellers is deserving of the office to which he aspires, and at Williams, where he is best known, he is highly spoken of as a man and a citizen. If he receives as good a vote in other precincts on election day as he will in his home precinct he will be the next recorder of Coconino County.

N. G. LAYTON

was for the third time the unanimous choice of the republican party for probate judge. He is
